Personal profile

I am an enthusiastic, creative and determined individual who enjoys working in teams and achieving targets. Having an extroverted personality, I thrive off just being around others. I am 23 years old and graduated from Bournemouth University this year (2017) with a degree in Digital Media Design. Being a new graduate my passions lie with IOS development and Front End design, but more specifically UI/UX design. Bridging the gap between Creative & Front End I can build and develop responsive web pages, mobile IOS applications and some back end functionalities as well, whilst maintaining my passion for design. I strive to create pixel-perfect pages with the user in mind. I also have got dual Norwegian & British Citizenship.

Achievements

- British Conference of Undergraduate Research 2017: BCUR celebrates undergraduate research from across all disciplines. Each year a different British university hosts the conference, welcoming undergraduates from all over the country as they present papers, posters, workshops and performances.
- Jack Petchey Award: I was awarded for my outstanding efforts at Stanmore College.
- Co-founder of JumpStart Enterprise: JumpStart Enterprise was a business society that was set up with another to help raise awareness of entrepreneurship and business. We collectively built a platform for other students to get involved and attend networking events, and to help set businesses up.
- Open Water Scuba Diver: Scuba Diving has taught me to stay focused and follow instructions with high attention to detail.
